PRELIMINARY COMMENTS

After introduction of all members present, the Chairman briefed the Working Group on the tasking resulting from [redacted] NFIB Working Group on Compartmentation. The changes proposed by the [redacted] Group will result in significant quantities of intelligence material, formerly protected by compartmentation procedures, being disseminated at standard levels of classification. The need for protecting the sensitive intelligence sources and methods involved in such dissemination highlights the need for establishing minimum standards for access to all such national foreign intelligence material released under (non-compartmented) standard levels of classification. The CIA Act of 1947 and E.O. 12036 charge the DCI with protecting intelligence sources and methods and with establishing security standards for access to intelligence information.

It is necessary to create a security standard somewhat less than DCID 1/14 which will be applicable to anyone receiving access to national foreign intelligence information either within or outside of the Intelligence Community. One suggestion was for a new DCID. It would be based upon the investigative standards to be determined from the results of the investigative survey being conducted by the SECOM Investigative Standards Working Group (ISWG).

Additional items currently under study by SECOM Working Groups which can be included in the proposed DCID are the Adjudicative Standards and the Appeals Procedures which are being drawn up for DCID 1/14.

A new DCID would also need provisions for an indoctrination and secrecy agreement, a reinvestigation program and a termination debriefing and secrecy reminder.

TIME SCHEDULE

- 12 January 1979 - A skeleton outline of the considerations by the Working Group is to be presented to []
- 1 May 1979 - Final proposals and recommendations must be available for [] presentation to NFIB.

WORKING GROUP CONSIDERATIONS AND PROPOSALS

1. Create a new DCID setting the Security Standards for access to all non-compartmented national foreign intelligence information for the protection of intelligence sources and methods.
2. Consider the establishment of a "single standard" for access to both SCI and non-compartmented information if the results of the ISWG survey provides a basis for such.
3. Consider the possibility of use of the polygraph in the Security Standards for access to.
4. Consider the establishment government wide of a "common standard" for personnel security clearances through a revision of Executive Order 10450.

[] was tasked with the study of secrecy agreements and termination secrecy reminders in use by the Community agencies and with making recommendations for this Working Group. The Group has been asked to make available to [] any material they may have in this realm for his report.

NEXT MEETING

The next meeting will be held in approximately a month.
The Chairman will notify each member.

ADJOURNMENT

The meeting adjourned at 1505 hours.

NOTE: Following the meeting, the question of the Working Group's responsibilities for reviewing DCID 1/14 security standards was discussed with [redacted] Executive Secretary, Security Committee. [redacted] advised that while the Working Group is responsible for security standards for personnel clearances for all national foreign intelligence material, the DCI is satisfied with the current DCID 1/14 standards and therefore the Working Group should direct its efforts toward the non-SCI material.
